Local restaurant part of drug & weapons bust

The Yolo County Narcotics Enforcement Team (YONET) reports that it served search warrants on 10 different Sacramento and West Sacramento locations on Aug. 30-31 - including the home and business of a West Sacramento restaurant owner. Twenty pounds of methamphetamines, 450 pounds of marijuana and various weapons were among the items seized.

"Operation Camaron" was named after the Spanish word for "shrimp," said YONET spokesperson Brenda Heng. It was so named because at the center of the investigation was Brandy Tellez, owner of the seafood restaurant El Venado on West Capitol Ave. YONET believes Tellez was involved in an organization of drug distribution with ties to Mexico.

No-bail federal warrants were issues against Tellez, 24; Edwin Balero, 25; Armando Riva, 32; and Ivan English, 23, charging them with conspiracy to distribute methamphetamine. Also arrested on drug charges were Lorena Wong, 19; Oscar Zazueta, 27; Manuel Zazueta, Zazueta, 30; Jose Noriega, 25; and Carlos Chaveste, 28.

Along with several Sacramento locations, search warrants were served at Tellez's home on Walnut St. in West Sacramento, at the restaurant on West Capitol, at a relative's home on Hickory St., at the Balero residence on Tabor St., and at storage lockers used by Balero on Evergreen Ave.

The Tellez residence yielded a "professional ordnance" pistol with 300 rounds, a 9 mm handgun with 80 rounds and a Beretta 9 mm handgun with 90 rounds. Weapons located at the Balero residence included a "professional ordnance" rifle and pistol, three shotguns, an arsenal rifle, three 9 mm handguns, two .40 caliber handguns, a "Bushmaster" rifle, 31 ammo magazines and about 1,000 rounds of ammunition.

Other assets seized included $71,000 in cash at Tellez's residence. Earlier in the investigation, agents arrested 12 other suspects and seized 85 pounds of marijuana, four vehicles and Plagiarized articles in the 'Press'?

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Staff of the Davis Enterprise is upset after learning that at least three Enterprise articles have been published, largely intact, as articles in the West Sacramento Press.

"I believe it is absolutely plagiarism," said Enterprise editor Debbie Davis.

Enterprise reporters stumbled earlier this month upon an Aug. 25 Press article about the Yolo County Fair. The article was nearly word-for-word the same as an earlier article by Enterprise reporter Lauren Keene. Both had the same "color" commentary on the fair experience, as well as interviews with about a half-dozen fairgoers. The version that appeared in the Press had no "byline," or reporter's name.

Enterprise editor Davis contacted John Hartmire, who was editor of the Press when the articles were published,to discuss the problem.

"His first response was that it was a mistake on the part of an intern who had e-mailed him a story and misrepresented where it came from," said Davis. "He then e-mailed me and said an intern had sent it to him to use as a 'foundation' for a news story, and also sent her own story, and that he had downloaded and printed the wrong one."

Reached by the News-Ledger, Hartmire reiterated his explanation of how the Enterprise's county fair article came to be in the Press. He denied plagiarism.

"The intern sent me two different things," he said. "I used the wrong one."

In the Press last week, a "notice of retraction and apology" appeared, expressing regret that an "error" was made regarding the county fair article "in the haste and exuberance required to almost single-handedly publish a community newspaper in time." The apology stated that the article had been "inadvertently" reprinted from the Enterprise, and noted that the relationship between a newspaper and its readers is "tenuous and fragile enough without the sickening suspicion of plagiarism infecting the dynamic."

Hartmire has since left the Press for new employment. David Payne, president of Vallejo-based Gibson Publications, which owns the Press, told the News-Ledger he was not familiar with the plagiarism controversy and had no comment.

But in the meantime, a search through several months' of Press back issues had turned up two more newspaper articles which appear to have been reprinted, largely intact, from the Enterprise. One was a June 2 Press article on the closing of a tomato processing plant in Davis, and the second was an article on the county budget, published on July 14. Both relied heavily on text from Enterprise articles written earlier by

ABOUT TOWN: The McKinnons

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

Roy "Red" McKinnon was raised in Northern Michigan where his father worked for the Ford Motor Company. He enjoyed his early years in the Upper Midwest, but shortly after he graduated from high school, an opportunity to go to faraway California presented itself, and he jumped at it.

"This guy put an ad in the newspaper saying he wanted someone to share expenses for a car trip to the West Coast," recalled Roy, "and it sounded like a pretty good deal to me, so I hopped in this little 1937 Willys he was driving and off we went. Along the way, we stopped at Mount Rushmore and Yellowstone Park and it turned out to be quite an adventure."

Once in California, Roy looked up an uncle who owned a hotel in Vallejo and he worked there for about a year.

"Mostly I just did flunky stuff," remembered Roy, "but in 1941 I got a job with the phone company splicing cables, and in 1943 they sent me to Nevada to help with the transcontinental telephone service they were putting in between New York and San Francisco."

While in Nevada, Roy received a notice from his draft board, but rather than return all the way to California, he decided to go over to nearby Salt Lake City and enlist in the Navy.

"World War Two was going pretty good by then," said Roy, "and to tell you the truth, I chose the Navy because I heard they had cleaner bunks and better chow. From Salt Lake City, they sent me all the way back to Virginia for training and then they put me in the Seabees, which was a construction battalion. I guess the thing I remember most about those days was the smelly, dirty, dusty troop train we took back to Camp Shoemaker in California before they shipped us overseas. The engine was coal-fired and I ended up covered from head to toe with black coal dust. Those were definitely four or five days I'll never forget."

The Navy sent Roy to Hawaii for more training and then to the island of Guam, where he did communications work.

"Guam was the main communication center for all of the Southwest Pacific," explained Roy, "and by the time I got there, the island had been secured. The only Japanese I saw were prisoners, and one day while I was working in a five foot open pit, one of them came marching by, looked down at me and said in perfect English, `It sure is hot today, isn't it?' Anyway, although Guam wasn't all that scary, I was still happy as can be when the war finally ended and I got to go home."

Once back in the States, Roy returned to Michigan to spend some time with his parents. While there, he ran into a pretty former cheerleader he had once dated in high school who had spent much of the war doing Rosie the Riveter type work and before long, they were dating and talking about marriage.

"I had always liked Roy," remembered Elaine McKinnon, Roy's wife of 53 years. "When we first knew each other, he used to help deliver milk to my

City blames port officials for delay of new Jefferson bridge

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Mayor Christopher Cabaldon and Mayor pro tem Mark Montemayor were openly angry with two commissioners of the Port of Sacramento on Wednesday, charging that they were using personal opinions to make port policy and to harm chances for speedy improvements to the Jefferson Blvd. barge canal bridge.

"What the city's trying to do is widen Jefferson Blvd., which will happen extremely soon," said Montemayor. "This is going to happen as new homes are going in. The issue is that, in order to widen Jefferson to four lanes across the canal, we need to build a second bridge parallel to the first bridge. The most cost-effective bridge is an at-grade crossing, costing from $500,000 to $800,000."

A bridge built high enough to allow commercial traffic underneath, on the other hand, would cost around $8 million, he added. To this, the city is opposed.

An at-grade crossing -- built immobile and at road level -- would prevent future ship or barge traffic through the lock which connects the Port of Sacramento to the Sacramento River. And while the city doesn't see that as a problem, at least two members of the Port of Sacramento's governing board have sent up a red flag on the issue. Montemayor is upset about the delay.

"When was the last time a major vessel used the locks?," asked Montemayor. "We see the likelihood of high profile water vessel use there as very low. The Sacramento side of the locks is also pretty unnavigable due to the buildup of sand."

But while the city was working with Representative Doug Ose's office to "decommission" the locks and pave the way for an at-grade crossing (the locks are controlled by federal law and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers), port commission chairman Larry McConnell and colleague Kevin Forsberg indicated their personal hesitance to agree.

The port owns the land on which the new bridge would travel, said McConnell, and while the port's governing board hasn't taken an official position on the future of the locks, barge traffic just may be in the canal's future.

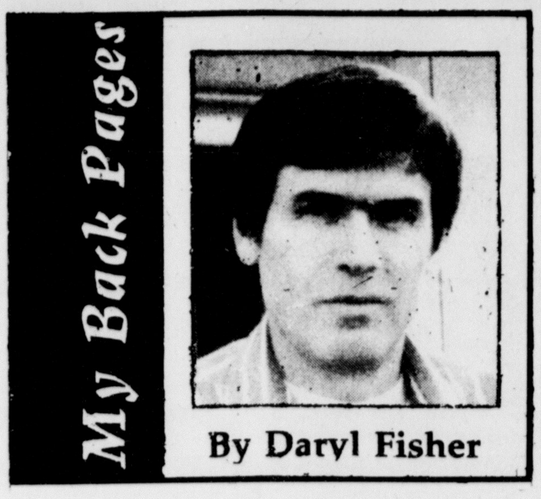

"The port has no position on the lock right now," said McConnell. "What we're trying to do is develop one."

He added that from 1964 to 1979, 8 million tons of "product" moved through Stone Lock on Jefferson Blvd., and although the lock is now disused, "the aggregate market (rock and gravel for construction) is still pretty strong -- the potential for about 1.2 million tons a year is still there."

"Sources tell us that in the Bay Area, for the kinds of aggregates used to construct a bridge, the projects will run out of aggregate in about a year and a half to two years. The next

Does your relationship remind you of a dead shark?

Note: A reader of this column who also happens to be a big Woody Allen movie fan recently requested that I re-run the following column, which first appeared in the News-Ledger in 1993. She said there was no particular hurry, but since such requests are few and far between, I thought I best do it right away.

I don't remember the name of the movie (I think it was "Annie Hall"), but Woody Allen and Diane Keaton were sitting next to each other on a plane, discussing the possibility that they were no longer really in love.

"Let's face it," said Diane to Woody, "I don't think our relationship is working anymore. What do you think?"

"Well," said Woody philosophically, "relationships are a lot like sharks. They either keep moving forward, or they die."

"I see," said Diane, not exactly sure what Woody meant.

"And unfortunately," added Woody, "what I think we've got on our hands here....is a dead shark."

A couple with similar problems were on a talk show I was watching the other day, but according to the psychologist sitting next to them, they were going to be okay because they had discovered "role reversal therapy" just in the nick of time.

"So, just what is `role reversal therapy'?" the moderator asked the psychologist.

"Well," explained the psychologist, "we are finding that most couples have an incredible lack of understanding and empathy for the real life experiences of their partners....and this can be very toxic."

"Really?" asked the moderator, as confused as I was.

"That's right," continued the psychologist. "There are literally millions of men out there these days who don't know what it's really like to be a woman in today's world, and just as many women who don't know what it's like to be a man."

"Can you please give us a few examples?" asked the moderator.

"Certainly. For instance, men don't have a clue what it's like to go through child labor and give birth."

A pregnant woman in the audience suddenly jumped to her feet and added with emphasis, "And if men had to start giving birth, the world population explosion would come to a screeching halt in about nine months!"

Anyway, just as I was learning how important it is for men and women to voluntarily exchange some of the roles they have assumed in their relationships, my wife strolled by and said, "I thought you said you were going to wash that filthy dog of yours today."

"You know," I said with my warmest smile, "I think I've changed my mind about that."

"Oh, you have?" she asked. "And why is that? He reeks!"

"I know," I said, "but for the health of our relationship, I think you should be the one to give Mikey his bath this time."

"Is that right?"

"That's what the psychologist on this talk show is saying."

"Really?"

"Yeah. And not only that, but apparently we'd get along even better if you started doing the yard work, shoveled up after the dog from time to time, and volunteered to wash the car more often."

"I see. And has that psychologist said anything about who's going to cook your dinner tonight if you don't get off that couch and wash that gross dog?"

"Not yet," I admitted. "But he did say that I should try to be more understanding if you ever give birth to another baby."

After the television show was over, and after I had finished mowing the lawn, washing the car and bathing Mikey, I came to the somewhat reluctant conclusion that we probably shouldn't mess too much with male and female roles. I mean, they've evolved over centuries and centuries and there's probably a pretty good reason for why things have turned out the way they have.

I also thought of something else Woody Allen had said about relationships at the end of "Annie Hall": "It's like that old joke, you know, this guy goes to a psychiatrist and says, `Doc, my brother is crazy. He thinks he's a darn chicken.' And the doctor says, `Well, why don't you turn him in?' And the guy says, `I would, but we need the eggs'."

"Well," concluded Woody, " I guess that's pretty much how I feel about relationships. You know, they're totally irrational and crazy and absurd....but I guess we keep on having them because, you know, uh, most of us need the eggs."

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The NFL season started with all the excitement as promised with four games decided in the final 15 seconds. The Raiders were one of the teams on the short end of the 15 seconds. The Raiders, who were 9-point underdogs, were leading the Green Bay Packers 24-21 with less than two minutes remaining.

The Raiders, for some unknown reason, went into their prevent defense and Brett Farve marched the Packers down field for a game winning touchdown. The Raiders lost a heartbreaker 28-24 and now must travel to Minnesota next Sunday. The Raiders, who are 11-point underdogs, will need lots of luck against the Vikings.

The 49ers on the other hand received their worst beating in 13 years as the Super Bowl bound Jacksonville Jaguars swamped the 49ers 41-3. The Niners, who were trailing at halftime 6-3, looked like they were hanging in there with the Jags. The game was played in continuous rainstorm but the 49ers didn't fall apart until R.W. McQuarters fumbled the second half kick-off. The Jags returned the fumble for a touchdown and never looked back. The 49ers are lucky this week as they return home with their wounded ego's to play New Orleans (1 p.m.) in their home opener. The 49ers will be 10-point favorites over the Saints. The 49ers have beaten the Saints in 13 of their previous 15 meetings, including six in a row. A quick note, ex-49ers safety
Merton Hanks landed on his feet in Seattle. The Seahawks signed Hanks and will use him in their nickel defense.

Well, my NFL picks were pretty bad in week 1 but I did manage to win the Monday game as the Dolphins beat the Broncos 38-21. I lost the Tampa Bay game 17-14 to the New York Giants even though the Giants only had 3 first downs and 107 total offense yards! The Detroit Lions surprised the Seahawks in Seattle and I start the season with 1 win, 2 losses. This week I like the 49ers (-10) to bounce back and cover the spread over the Saints, who will probably have to hold out Ricky Williams, who turned his bad ankle again last week. 49ers 31- Saints 6. This week the picks are real tough but I will take the Tennessee Titans (-10) over the hapless Browns, who were shutout by the Steelers 43-0 and only had two first downs in the 12 minutes they controlled the ball. On Monday night the Cowboys (-3) will give the Falcons their second loss of the season.

The A's completed their four game sweep in Tampa Bay and trail the Red Sox in the wild card race by two games with 18 remaining. The A's (80-64) will be in Baltimore for a four game series before they return to Oakland on Friday night for a three game series against Kansas City. The Giants (78-65) playoff hopes are fading fast as they trail the Diamondbacks by 8 ½ games with 19 games remaining. The Giants are at home this week against Florida before their head south to San Diego on Friday night and then on to Los Angeles for a four game series starting on Monday. Unless Arizona hits a terrible losing streak it looks like the Giants season will come down to just beating the Dodgers. The two rivals still have seven games remaining between them including the final classic game at 3COM Park on September 30th. The "Fight of the Millennium" between Oscar De La Hoya and Felix Trinidad is set to go on Saturday, September 18 at 6 p.m. on Pay-Per-View ($49.95).

Don't miss this fight it promises to will live up to it's billing! I like De La Hoya in a third round KO.!!!

See ya next week!

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Coming to a head?

A decade ago, West Sacramento's leaders were planning an industrial future for part of the city's undeveloped Southport area, and these plans dovetailed nicely with the existence of the Port of Sacramento. Both parties saw each other as complementary. Relationships were strong between the city and port.

Lately, that relationship has deteriorated. City and port officials are currently distrustful of each other and have come to verbal blows over various development proposals and even the wish of at least one city council member that West Sacramento eventually take over the port's operations.

Clearly, there has to be a change somewhere. Sacramento's county and city, which control most of the power behind the port, have little use for it. West Sacramento, which is a minority interest on the port's governing board, has much use for it.

How much this city and the port affect each other is clear in this latest dispute: if West Sacramento has its way, commercial traffic and a good deal of pleasure traffic through the lock at Jefferson Blvd. will be precluded by a new fixed bridge, and if at least two port commission members have their way, the city will instead have to build a higher bridge -- and spend another $7 million or so.

The regional facility of the Port of Sacramento creates much of mix of both benefits and costs right here in West Sacramento.

Perhaps the year 2000 will be the year in which simmering city/port concerns come to a boil and a new, larger solution is sought.

Letters to the Editor

RCHS Anti-abortion protest a bad idea

In response to the article printed in the September 8th issue of the News-Ledger about the anti-abortion demonstration in front of River City High School, I would just like to say that I am appalled by such a gruesome display of protest, especially before the eyes of unsuspecting minors. Parents already have to worry too much about the influences placed upon their children in public schools. If this had taken place in front of a college, that would have been different. What next? White supremacy demonstrations? I know that is a far cry from anti-abortion protests, but it falls into the same categories as freedom of speech and expression.

What did these students do to be forced to witness such a hateful and graphic scene? Even on public television they have warnings as to what kind of content is contained within programs, but these people gave no warning or even a hit as to what they had in mind that morning,

I am a 1999 graduate of River City High School and have witnessed the era of the strange attempts by the Joy Christian Ministries to control local students; from the books we read to even the clothes on our backs. In the age of adolescence, young people don't like the idea of being told what to do or how to think and tend to rebel against such influences. If last week's demonstration was an attempt to change people's minds, it was the worst possible way of going about it.

There is a reason why there are age limits for many activities and that is because most young people have not fully developed physically and mentally. What I am trying to say is that young people should be allowed to grow up a little bit before they are forced by adults to witness a gruesome display like the one that took place in front of the high school last week.

I thank you for hearing my opinion and hope others do not take this letter as an insult.

Let's stop theft in West Sac!

Dear West Sacramento citizens; We must come together as a community and stop the several thefts happening in our city. Bikes are a major problem. Start asking your child about the things they bring home. Lockers at school are a problem, also. Where are your kids getting extra clothes or calculators? Let's help each other out.

Has your child recently brought home a bicycle? Did you ask them where they got it from? It could have been stolen from in front of the Goodwill thrift store on Merkley Avenue in West Sacramento! (Sunday, September 5) Two HARO, BMX style bikes were locked together and someone witnessed two boys walking away with the bikes. One bike was yellow, with a broken seat, the other was red. If you know anything about this theft, please contact 372-8349, or the police. A reward will be given when the bikes are returned.

A black quilted purse was also stolen out of a truck in the Golden State Middle School parking lot on Monday, September 13 between 6 a.m. and 6:45 a.m.. A white convertible with a black top was seen in the parking lot at about 6:30 a.m.. Anyone with information please contact the police.

Elks fly the flags

We flew the flags today, September 9, 1999, Admission Day.

To those of you who do not know about this, and to those of you who know but don't help, I will try to explain what we are doing.

Several years ago, the City of West Sacramento organized the clubs, organizations and all interested parties in placing flags along West Capitol Avenue on each day that we honor our flag. Our Elks Lodge and Emblem Club were represented by Joyce Miller and Meryle and Doris Mottern. Our cost was $75 for each flag. Our Elks were responsible for putting the flags on the poles and placing a placque on each pole stating who sponsored it. This has been a joint effort by the people of West Sacramento.

We meet at Raley's at 7 a.m. to raise the flags and we retire them about 5 or 5:30 p.m.. They are stored at the fire station on 15th Street.

Please remember the Elks are responsible for raising these flags on Nov. 11, Veteran's Day. We need your help. This is something to be proud of and we enjoy doing it together. Sometimes we go for coffee or breakfast afterwards.

It is quite a thrill to see these flags flying in the breeze. They are a tribute to our country. Now that we are getting a City Hall on West Capitol won't it be nice to have the flags continue up the street to the City Hall? Did you know that some of the flags have been stolen when being displayed!! Maybe some more of the stores and businesses would like to contribute to this worthwhile cause and add flags to the group?

Plant & trim trees carefully

With summer behind us, we will be trimming our trees very soon. I learned from the Sacramento Tree Foundation that the biggest mistake people make is to "top off" the trees as we trim them, as was confirmed by the Bee's Garden Doctor in Saturday's "In the Garden" section. Unfortunately, some folks just plant their new trees without taking them out of the 5-gallon plastic container. Either practice, like poor pruning, will shorten the life of trees. But one must wonder when one sees tree roots growing "up, over and out" of a container: will roots grow as deep or will a windstorm more likely blow such trees down?

Also check with the experts: I believe when planting trees, we should plant far enough from water, sewer and gas lines. Hindsight told me I should have dug out a six foot diameter circle or square in the middle of where I planted my trees. Landscaping is also important so that little of the extra water trees need is wasted into gutters. Dig deeper so that newly planted trees will have their valley of water, too. And plant trees far enough from utility lines, as well as the house. (Too bad all of us planting and caring for trees were not aware of preventing roots from raising parts of our sidewalks).

Thanks to Mr. John Lucas for his input last week on the subject of using recycled tire rubber to enforce our river levees. I did not realize so much sand was used in levee formation. I was told back in the 1950s that Bermuda grass was brought over to this country to enforce our levees, but that grass would get out of hand; i.e., it grew where it was not planned. Maybe that tire rubber can have the flammable elements removed and combined with recycled plastic? Perhaps a slightly vented vertical wall would be stronger if that grass or other product could make the two levee sides even stronger. (How about dredging the river bottoms of all that silt, etc., thus deepening river and reducing need for raising or reinforcing levees?)

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered 19 feet 5 inches, United States guage at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. A great depth of snow in the mountains assures the farmers of the valley that there will be no shortage of water in the river during the coming summer. At the present writing it is reported that there are 65 inches of snow at the summit and it is being packed so that its lasting qualities will hold it during the entire spring. Certainly there is no scarcity of water or lack of moisture in the soil in this section of Yolo County and farmers are taking advantage of the opportunity to get their cultivating done and all their crops planted before another rain.

The Bridge Cafe, a dancing hall that had been in operation about a month, was cleared out last Tuesday when all the material was auctioned to the highest bidders. Although the furnishings had cost over $4000, very little over $400 was realized on the entire material. The rear end of the building where the cafe was located, stands on the right of way for the highway that is about to be built to the M street bridge and will have to be moved or the building remodeled to comport with the roadway.

They are making note of the necessary equipment that will be needed in the near future. E. E. Bane, service representative of the General Petroleum Corporation, with headquarters in Oakland, was also a visitor yesterday at the Westgate headquarters. All three returned to Oakland yesterday evening.

J. Misetich escaped a serious accident last Wednesday on the Freeport road in Sacramento when the steering gear of his automobile became loosened and he was unable to control its direction. Suddenly shutting down his power and applying his brakes, Misetich managed to reduce the speed of the car, but nevertheless, the automobile collided with a telephone post and was damaged to the extent of about $100. He escaped with only a shaking up and some slight bruises.

Miss Alta Flynn and Miss Louise Gold have been visitors at the Lindquist home during the past week and expect to stay several days longer. Miss Flynn came from Portland and Miss Gold from Colorado. They are old friends of the Lindquist family and are professional nurses who devote a good deal of their time to philanthropic work. Both are highly educated and besides practicing their profession, between times devote considerable time to relieving the sick and dispensing charities where they are badly needed. Both these ladies expect to spend some time at Truckee before returning to their homes. They want to witness the winter sports in California because they feel lonesome for the snow to which they were accustomed for several years in their home localities.

WASHINGTON WAS NAMED IN 1850

Washington, in Yolo county, more frequently called Broderick nowadays, was named by Mrs. James McDowell, widow of the first settler in that locality, on Washington's birthday, 1850. McDowell had purchased 600 acres from John Schwartz for 12½ cents an acre. After McDowell's death his widow founded the town, gave it a name and filed the first plat. Schwartz gained considerable fame by raising melons and other garden truck and selling it to miners in Sacramento at fancy prices.

B. Parker, arrested by Triffic Officer H. R. Jacobs on February 22 for driving at a rate of forty-three miles an hour on the state highway near the Yolo causeway, appeared before Judge Barry yesterday and pleaded guilty to the charge. After paying his fine he promised to sin no more and delivered $10 to the Judge.

R. Henry, arrested on February 21 by Traffic Officer Jacobs for cutting in on the Yolo causeway, has not yet appeared before Judge Barry for trial. He will likely regret his driving recklessly because the Judge is severe on those who endanger lives on the causeway.

Mettie Peluso was married in Sacramento yesterday forenoon by Rev. Father Taverna at the Italian Church at Seventh and S streets. His bride was Miss Margaret Torres, age 21, while he gave his age at 19 years. Immediately following the ceremony the young couple went to Oakland on a wedding trip. Peluso is a son of J. Endowed with the distinction of deputy constable, Walter Leinberger, familiarly known as "Doogan," placed a victim of canned heat under arrest last Wednesday evening when he created a rumpus in the vicinity of the postoffice. The canned heat victim didn't like the idea of spending all night in the calaboose and fought back at Leinberger, who was in no mood to stand for back-slack from a poor, depraved creature who uses canned heat as a stimulant. Accustomed to handle great carcasses of meat, Leinberger handled the canned heat victim like he was a toy and threw him about as if he were a shuttlecock, but, nevertheless, did not injure him. A lawabiding citizen himself and anxious to see the balance of the community just as lawabiding, Leinberger despises anyone who dwindles to the level of a canned heat user. SITE FOR NEW SCHOOL SELECTED BY TRUSTEES ON THE MERKLEY PLACE NORTH OF CARLY ACRES

The site for the new school to be erected by the Washington school trustees was selected last Wednesday when the trustees agreed with Roy Brooke to take over three acres on the Merkeley ranch north of the state highway in Carly Acres.

The location is immediately across the state highway from Rucker Station.

For these three acres the trustees consented to pay $1,500, but of that amount the residents in the immediate neighborhood consented to pay a bonus of $500. In that manner the Washington school trstees will only put up $1,000 for the three acres.

Mrs. Manchester told the Independent yesterday that the best price she could get from the West Sacramento Company for three acres located between Westgate and Carly Acres was $1,500.

The location of the school at this place is considered an injustice by the residents of Westgate, who voted in favor of the bonds because they were promised that a site would be selected for the building at a point in the West Sacramento district equally distant from Westgate and Carly Acres.

It was only the foresightedness of the residents of Carly Acres who voluntarily contributed $500 for the purchase of the site that was instrumental in prompting the trustees to locate the school in this location.

Residents of Westgate are now threatening to ask for a school district of their own, but yet they will be forced to pay their portion of the $20,000 bond issue that will go to build the school at Carly Acres.

But if the Westgate children must attend this school transportation must be provided for them, for the distance is somewhat over two miles, and certainly it would be better or shorter for them to continue attending the Washington public school.

The bonds are being advertised for sale at the present time, and according to expert reports on the legality of the bonds they will be sold to the highest bidder on Monday, March 1st, at the courthouse in Woodland.

Mrs. Manchester also advised the Independent yesterday that Miss Harriett Lee, county superintendent of schools, had visited the selected site and had given her approval of the location.

The Independent feels that the end of this matter has not yet been reached and that the Westgate people will not calmly submit to the location of the school at a site that is not midway between Carly Acres and Westgate.

This paper will welcome communications on the subject and will faithfully publish anything the parents or the taxpayers of the two districts wish to offer.

YOUNG MAN ACCUSED OF BURGLARY IS HELD TO ANSWER

At about 3 A. M. last Monday morning at the dance hall on Second street between Margaret street and the M street bridge James Jacks was arrested by the watchman in charge of the place and two other men who were called by the watchman and who were camping across the street from the hall.

Hearing a noise in the hall, the watchman noticed a dark figure prowling around the place, using a searchlight, which he flashed periodically. Instead of shooting, as is usual in cases of this kind, he went outside and called for help. With the aid of two other men Jacks was arrested and in his possession at the time of the arrest were two saxophones taken from the orchestra, a suitcase filled with tobacco, chewing gum, cigars and other material that had evidently also been taken from the place.

In Jacks' possession at the time of his arrest was found a very large screw driver about two feet in length which had been used to pry open the back of a gum vending machine and from which all the coin had been extracted.

Evidently this is a clear case of burglary against the young man.

He is now lodged in the county jail at Woodland and his preliminary hearing has been set by Judge Barry for Friday, March 6th. He offered no explanation at the time of his arrest.

BOND ELECTION FOR $8,000.00 FOR BRYTE SCHOOL ON MARCH 20

Woodland, Feb. 25.—Added to the two recent school bond elections, one in Davis and the other in the Washington district, still another election is to be held in the Bryte district, this one for $8000 for the purpose of obtaining funds to erect two rooms on the present Bryte Grammar School.

The bond election will be held March 20, according to announcement made this morning by District Attorney George T. Kern, who is preparing the papers in his office.

The two rooms for the Bryte school are held an immediate need, as accommodations for the school children at present are totally inadequate, it is stated. No doubt is felt by residents of Bryte as to the outcome of the election, and it is foretold that the bonds will be passed with probably no opposition.

The improvement of the Bryte school will have much to do with the advancement of education in Yolo County, which is growing by leaps and bounds. With the Davis High School to soon be erected, and a new grammar school for the Washington district to be put up in the future, this county can look to none other for leadership in educational lines.

PROLONGED TRIAL RESULTS FROM SPREE OF LAST FRIDAY

To celebrate Washington's Birthday in proper style and to add a little luster to the occasion D. C. Berg and Ernest Miller started celebrating last Friday.

In the first place they intended to attend the prize fights in Sacramento last Friday evening and in order to do so they partook of a popular brand which is sometimes distributed along the river levee.

Returning from the prize fights, they felt a little depressed on account of a friend who had lost his battle in the arena. To relieve the depression they partook of a little more and in that way the fiesta was continued Friday night, Saturday and Sunday. The climax came, however, on Friday night, when Berg, who is a deputy constable, claimed Miller was drunk and wanted to arrest him for disorderly conduct and using foul language within the hearing of good men and decent women.

Berg, to fulfill his official duties, tried to handcuff Miller and succeeded in doing so, even though Miller put up a valiant fight.

When Miller was fully handcuffed, Berg poked his revolver into Miller's ribs to impress him with the majesty of the law.

Spending all night in the calaboose, Miller was very sore and sobered up next morning sufficiently to swear out a complaint against Berg.

Being a deputy constable, Berg refused to be arrested until Constable Wilson impressed upon him that he must come before Judge Barry and explain his actions.

Judge Barry set the trial for Berg for Wednesday last for 2 p. m. Miller was represented by Attorney Nelson French of Sacramento and Berg had the support of District Attorney Kern.

The trial lasted all Wednesday afternoon and the greater part of Thursday before an audience that filled the justice court as it was never before filled. Indeed the trial was so ludicrous that people came from many distant places to listen to it.

To wind up the trial on Thursday evening Berg was found guilty on two counts and was sentenced this morning by Judge Barry. The other count is yet to be tried.

Berg and Miller are residents in the neighborhood of Second and Margaret streets and have been good friends until poor booze set them at each other's throats.

HALE, ARRESTED IN SAN FRANCISCO FOR HOLDUP, ACCUSED BY AL. ZEIMER

Woodland, Feb. 25.—William Hale, arrested in Washington early last January in connection with a holdup and robbery in which Al Zeimer of Sacramento lost $3000 in diamonds, is in the county jail in San Francisco, accused of highway robbery. Word comes to Woodland that Hale was captured Tuesday night on the San Francisco water front after he held up Kenneth Nolan, special Southern Pacific policeman and robbed him of a valuable revolver. Hale was caught by bay police two blocks away from the scene of the robbery with the stolen gun and a blackjack.

Hale and five other defendants, arrested by Sheriff J. W. Monroe, including Dixie and Harry Williams of the

MACHINERY AND PUMPS IN PLACE TO START GRADING OF ROAD

At the western end of the M street bridge yesterday, H. V. Tucker of the H. V. Tucker Company, contractors, was superintending the placing of pumps and other machinery to start the work of filling the grade for the state highway that is about to be built from the M street bridge westward as far as Fifth street.

Two large pumps of six inches in diameter, with electric motors attached, are to be used in the filling. These pumps will not pump sand from the river bed but will be used to float the sand westward to the point of location.

Tomorrow a large clam shell dredger will take its place in the stream near the bridge and will throw up the sand from the river bed on the levee near the bridge. Into a trough this sand will be dragged with scrapers and a six-inch stream of water will then be started by one of the above mentioned pumps to float the sand to the low places where it is needed.

Mr. Tucker explained to the Independent that the second pump will be used to throw the excess water back over the levee into the river.

The fall from the top of the levee to the highest point along the roadway is at least twelve feet and this fall is estimated to be sufficient to carry the sand to its destination.

Tucker explained to the Independent yesterday that he expects to finish his job in less than forty days. He expected to start more than a week ago but was delayed because the power line necessary to operate his machinery could not be brought to the location before yesterday.

To control the water a trench will be maintained at the northern side of the fill for the roadway. This will allow the excess water to flow back toward the levee, at which point the second six-inch pump will be located.

PETROLEUM CORPORATION MAY HAVE TO RENT SITE AT DAVIS

To establish a distributing base at Davis representatives of the General Petroleum Corporation have been looking for a site during the past week in that locality but so far have been unable to secure the needed ground at a resonable figure.

Owing to publicity given by the Independent on this question about two weeks ago it seems that landowners felt they had an opportunity to hold up the corporation for enormous prices for their land. This the corporation refuses to do and as a consequence no site has yet been secured.

The corporation expects to pay a reasonable figure for the necessary land but the Davis people are asking San Francisco prices for their holdings.

An alternative presents itself to the corporation of leasing a site from the Southern Pacific Company on which to establish the distributing base.

WEST SACRAMENTO RECLAMATION TRUSTEES MEET

Joseph Peltier, Samuel Harbinson and A. F. Turner, trustees of the West Sacramento district, otherwise known as District No. 900, held their monthly meeting last night at West Sacramento headquarters.

Questions of importance were taken up by the trustees and acted upon but the meeting was in session at such a late hour that this paper was unable to secure the transactions for this issue.

George M. Jones, secretary of the bondholders' committee of the West Sacramento district, accompanied Mr. Peltier on the trip from San Francisco.

PACKING HOUSE AND SHIPPING POINT TO BE LOCATED AT WESTGATE

Report was current in Westgate yesterday that a large packing and canning concern was about to locate a cannery or packing house along the river near Westgate.

From what the Independent could learn it is understood that G. D. Hudnutt has already contracted to build a large building and judging from the size of the order for lumber that was given a Sacramento lumber yard, the new building will not be a two by four.

The Independent could not confirm the report because of the lateness of the hour at which information came into its possession.

LOCAL YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED IN WOODLAND

Last Tuesday in Woodland Grant DeRiso, 24 years of age, and Miss Jennie DaGiau, 19 years of age, were married after a courtship of several years. They had been sweethearts since they attended school and the culmination of their romance was not unexpected.

Mrs. Helen Hicks was the only witness from this locality present at the marriage.

Grant DeRiso is a son of Frank De Riso, one of the oldest residents of Washington. He is a machinist in the Southern Pacific shops in Sacramento and is popular with all the young people of the town.

Mrs. DeRiso was a pupil of the Washington public school and was raised here and is also very popular with those who know her.

Temporarily the young couple will make their home with Frank DeRiso, a brother of the groom, on their return from Oakland, San Francisco and other points where they went on their honeymoon.

Over 100 languages are spoken on the streets of New York every day. But when night comes 200 dialects are added to the clamor.

house and he would write these really nice notes to me and leave them under one of the bottles. That was actually considered pretty romantic back then. Plus for awhile he had a car that only ran in reverse, and what girl could possibly resist that?"

Roy and Elaine were married in 1946 and Roy went back to work for the phone company.

"They counted all my time in the service," said Roy, "so I was able to return to a pretty good paying job with seniority. Then we saw an ad for a home in West Sacramento on Alabama Street. It was only $8,500 and furnished, including silverware, so we bought it. Back then there was absolutely nothing on the other side of Park Boulevard and I can even remember a plane crashing in the open fields near where Our Lady of Grace church is now located."

By 1950, Roy and Elaine had two sons, Dennis and Tim, and in 1955, Roy and a handful of his friends and neighbors decided West Sacramento needed a Little League.

"Jim Cameron and Jack Dunlap were responsible for getting things off the ground," said Roy, "but Joe Bottino, Carl Younglove, Herb Hoskins, and quite a few others were really helpful, too, and before long, we had ourselves a park, a major and a minor league diamond, and eight teams. I'm very proud of the part I played in that, because a lot of the kids from this area have played in the West Sacramento Little League, including both of my sons, and it was really a good experience for them. In the early 60s, the All-Star team my son Tim played on went all the way to Regionals in San Jose before they were finally beaten by the team than actually ended up winning the Little League World Series."

Roy retired from the phone company in 1982 after 42 years on the job and he and Elaine can often be found up in Plumas County, where they have a mobile home.

"There's six golf courses within about a five minute drive of each other," said Roy, "and I really enjoy spending time up there. Elaine and I are both still in pretty good health and we have great kids and grandkids, so we both consider ourselves very lucky."

"I don't know where I'd be without my father and mother," said Tim McKinnon, Roy and Elaine's youngest son. "They were great role models when I was growing up and they've always been there for me and my brother. They are good, caring people who treat everyone with kindness and respect, and maybe best of all, they are also wonderful grandparents."

"When my brother and I were growing up," said Dennis McKinnon, Roy and Elaine's oldest son, "all of our friends always ended up at our house, and that was mostly because they really liked my parents. They knew they were truly welcome there, plus Mom always fed them really well, too. To this day, when I run into a friend I haven't seen in years, the first thing he or she wants to know is 'How are your parents'? Not everyone gets to have parents like mine, and both my brother and I know how lucky we are."

Roy is also a longtime member of West Sacramento VFW #8762 and was the Post Commander in 1978 and 1979.

Roy and Elaine's four grandchildren are Ryan, Mindy, Matt and Lexie.

area to service the bridge construction is our region. And most of these aggregate loads are now going by truck. We can take 180 to 300 trucks off the road with every barge."

McConnell said Mayor Cabaldon called him on Aug. 26 and asked the port to hold an emergency meeting to come up with a position statement on the locks. McConnell told the News-Ledger that he declined Cabaldon's request, believing that the port's charter obligated his commission to carefully study any loss of economic opportunity before agreeing, in essence, to close the lock to commercial traffic.

McConnell also cancelled an item on the port commission's agenda this month calling for discussion of a position statement on the barge canal, saying the information wasn't ready.

The port's refusal to speed this process, and McConnell's and Forsberg's expression of unease over the loss of the lock to the Corps of Engineers and Rep. Ose's office, has left city officials feeling they have missed an opportunity. Congress will close this session without decommissioning the lock, and West Sacramento "will miss a construction season" for building a new bridge, said Montemayor. "This is a safety issue," he said.

City manager's assistant Larry von Kaenel said McConnell's actions have blindsided the city, since the port has previously expressed its acceptance of the closure of the lock.

"Previous correspondence with the port indicates they had no problem with an at-grade crossing," he said.

McConnell, on the other hand, maintained that slow and careful study is necessary to protect the interests of the port, which is a taxpayer-owned facility.

"What I asked the city council to do is to allow us some time to explore the legal issues and the economic feasibility," he said. "I told them, 'please don't believe we're trying to kill you, we're not.' We want road access into Southport too."

"It is frustrating to us because they're out there lobbying the aggregate people, the office of Doug Ose, and the Corps of Engineers. But it's never been agendized by the Port," said Montemayor.

"I'm disappointed that somebody has decided to make this a political football," said McConnell.

PRESS from page one

reporter David Lacy.

The search of Press issues did not extend prior to April, 1999.

In light of that discovery, the Enterprise wasn't sure it was accepting the printed apology.

"I have since seen the correction and apology," commented Davis. "I haven't decided what to do. I can't believe the ethics -- or lack of ethics -- here."

Reporter Lauren Keene, who wrote the original county fair article, said she felt her work was plagiarized.

"In that we found two other examples of stories that seem to be plagiarized, I don't buy his explanation," said Keene.

Hartmire said he wasn't able to explain exactly how the copying of the additional two articles occurred.

"It's not something I knowingly did," Hartmire commented. "Being the editor at the time, I take responsibility."

"We ask our readers to expect that what we give them each day is the truth," said Enterprise editor Davis. "If we don't give them the truth, it gives us all a black eye."

Notice of Petition to Administer Estate of Esther Amaya
Case No. PB99-199

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Esther Amaya:

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Kathleen R. Sylvia, Public Administrator, in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Kathleen R. Sylvia, Public Administrator, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived consent or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on September 30, 1999, at 8:30 a.m. in Dept. 7 at Superior Court of California, County of Yolo, 725 Court Street, Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the next four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
